

OUR READERS WRITE

Jane Ewing wrote from Grant, AL, about topics near and dear to all our hearts – friends and money:

"I feel we need to give some strong thoughts to encouraging more dancers to come out. Did you know that 80% of our survey results say that newcomers come because someone took the time to invite them? Maybe we all need to look at those people we see on a regular basis and take two minutes to talk to them to see if contra might work in their life and invite them. Between you and me [and a hundred of our friends; ed] - it took me a couple of years to invite someone I knew from church; someone who just 'looked' like they might enjoy contra. Now, not only has this person become a regular, but they have brought in others to join us - you just never know.

"One newcomer recently answered 'Aerobic work-out, cool music, fun people.' to the question 'What did you like'.

"Since the June 21st dance we have only averaged a profit of $6.63 per dance. Sure would be nice if it was larger! Average number of dancers per dance = 65. We really need to get the number closer to 80, not only for profit but for fun purposes.

"We have also been lucky that 30% of our newcomers have been in their 20's - what a great age group to be with!! This age group learns so much faster than us old farts (speaking for myself) it means that our dancing ability should rise!!"

Editor: Thanks Jane! We spent some time browsing survey results, too, and two things really jumped out at us.

First, in answer to what they liked, newcomers overwhelmingly answered fun, friendly, welcoming people – even more often than the dance and music itself. People respond positively when we smile and have fun with them!

But second, in answer to what they did not especially like, a few comments stood out: "Crabby people who seemed annoyed if you didn't dance as they wanted you to", "Some of the more experienced dancers were a little aggressive about showing you the right move/position, rather than just letting you enjoy yourself", "some (but not many) folks were stand-offish." When we forget to smile and accept people as they are, they notice...

FULL MOON CONSORT

We will be privileged February 7 to dance to the music of a band most of has never heard before, the Full Moon Consort!

Full Moon Consort is: Andrew Levin from Clemson, NC, on fiddle; Robin Behn from Birmingham on flute and penny whistle, Steve Nix from Huntsville on guitar and cello, Wayne Hitt from Scottsboro on piano, and John English from Birmingham on percussion.

Andrew, Steve, and Robin started this group last summer at band camp in Brasstown, N.C. They played their first dance on the night of the full moon and they've been playing together and adding musicians ever since. Andrew, who is the orchestra director at Clemson University by day and an awesome fiddler by night, will be traveling to Alabama for this special occasion.

CAN YOU WAIT FOR BLUE MOON?!

Final details are being arranged now for the Blue Moon dance weekend in Huntsville, the weekend of May 15-17! Music and calling will be provided by one of the hottest bands around, George Marshall and Wild Asparagus. Some say Wild Asparagus is the hottest contra band from New England. Certainly those packing the local dance halls as they tour would agree. Wild Asparagus is America's "most traveled" contra band, and everywhere they go, the halls are packed. People are whooping it up, enjoying their lively, sometimes hypnotic, joyous music. With additional calling by Jane Ewing and music by and Jim and Enge Wood, we know every moment of the dance is going to be memorable. We'll be distributing flyers soon, and we encourage you to register early – we are hopeful that we will fill the hall to capacity this year!
